Introduction

Plaintiff files suit against Defendant The Best Services, Co., Inc. (“TBSC”) for violation of the Federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (“FCRA”) and the California Consumer Credit Reporting Agencies Act (“CCRAA”). Plaintiff complains that after his Chapter 13 Reorganization Plan was confirmed, TBSC reported a collection account with a $0.00 balance. Plaintiff claims to have disputed the reporting with the credit bureau, TranUnion, LLC, but TBSC failed to conduct a reasonable investigation and correct the report to reflect bankruptcy status.

1 An essential element of Plaintiff's Cause of Action against TBSC is the allegation that
2 Plaintiff communicated his dispute to the Credit Reporting Agency, and that the Credit Reporting
3 Agency communicated the dispute to Defendant and that Defendant failed to investigate
4 Plaintiff's dispute. Instead of alleging these facts essential to state a Cause of Action, Plaintiff's
5 Complaint alleges that TransUnion was "..required to send all relevant information to the 6 furnishers [TBSC] which they did not do." [Complaint, Pg. 3, ¶19]. Plaintiff thus alleges that
7 the Credit Reporting Agency never forwarded Plaintiff's dispute to Defendant TBSC, thereby
8 confirming that TBSC is not liable based on the facts alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint.
9

10 The undisputed facts set forth in TBSC's moving papers strike the heart of Plaintiff's case
11 and call upon the notion of due process, notice and opportunity to be heard. The undisputed facts 12 prove:
13

14 1). Plaintiff paid the debt IN FULL to TBSC BEFORE the bankruptcy was filed. The 15 Bankruptcy Court had no jurisdiction over the Defendant or Defendant's debt because Plaintiff
16 did not owe anything to Defendant when he filed for bankruptcy;
17

18 2). Despite having correspondence and settlement documents in their hands
19 indicating TBSC's correct address, Plaintiff and their counsel gave the Bankruptcy Court the 20 wrong address for TBSC. Therefore, TBSC never received any notice at all of Plaintiff's
21 bankruptcy until it was served (at its correct address) with this lawsuit;
22

23 3). TBSC did not receive notice of the bankruptcy, nor did they ever receive notice of 24 Plaintiff's dispute from Plaintiff or any credit reporting agency; and

25 4). At all time relevant times herein, Plaintiff's account was reported to TransUnion
26 as a paid collection account with a $0.00 balance.
27
28

1 It is somewhat shocking that an experienced lawyer would argue that these facts state an
2 FCRA claim, much less file a lawsuit in Federal Court.

3 Argument

4 I. Plaintiff fails to address TBSC's motion for summary judgment or to present 5 any disputed issues of triable fact and on that basis TBSC's motion for summary 6 judgment should be granted

7 Plaintiff fails to offer any opposition to TBSC's motion for summary judgment or to present
8 facts, or law, that might tend to prove that there are triable issues of fact. Therefore, TBSC's
9 motion for summary judgment should be granted.

10 II. An FCRA dispute cannot be a dispute when the Furnisher of credit information 11 is not notified of an alleged inaccuracy

12 Plaintiff's opposition is akin to a "zombie brief". A reader can sit back and observe it
13 systematically eat itself to death. In other words, the arguments and case law cited by Plaintiff
14 are all filled with factual situations where furnishers of credit received notice of the dispute and 15 they failed to investigate and or correct any inaccurate information. Plaintiff offers no
16 admissible evidence to rebut the evidence offered by TBSC that it never received any notice of 17 Plaintiff's dispute; never had the opportunity to repair the credit reporting; and that TBSC
18 accurately reported that Plaintiff paid his collection account in full prior to filing for bankruptcy
19 relief!
20

21 Plaintiff cites Gorman v. Wolpoff & Abramson LLP., 584 F.3d 1147 (9th Cir. 2009). This
22 opinion mentions the consumer filing a dispute of the account and the creditor receiving a notice
23 of the dispute of the account 165 times. Plaintiff's opposition at Page 4, Lines 13 -19 states "A 24 furnisher must refrain from reporting information that is knows or has reasonable cause to believe is 25 inaccurate. Moreover, when a furnisher receives notice of a consumer dispute from a CRA
26 concerning the accuracy of any credit item, the furnisher must reasonably investigate the dispute and,
27
28

1 if necessary, correct any past misreporting.” By making these arguments, Plaintiff completely
 2 ignores the basis for TBSC’s motion – that TBSC never had reason to know of the inaccuracy
 3 because it was never notified of the bankruptcy or of the dispute.

4 One would think that when Plaintiff’s counsel read the Gorman case and its 165 references to 5 notification of the dispute, a light bulb would have gone off somewhere saying “Mmmmm,
 6 maybe someone should have told TBSC of the dispute before this lawsuit was filed.”

7
 8 III. Even if TBSC had notice of the dispute, the information cannot be said to be
 9 inaccurate or derogatory

10 Plaintiff alleges that TBSC’s reporting of a collection account with a $0.00 balance is 11 inaccurate, materially misleading, derogatory and can adversely affect credit decisions.
 12 However, Plaintiff has not offered any proof to his allegation and TBSC asserts that this is 13 clearly not the case.

14 1. The reporting is accurate because the account was, in fact, a past due collection account
 15 which was paid in full prior to the bankruptcy and reflected a $0.00 balance. Where is the 16 inaccuracy? Also, what law states that a bankruptcy encompasses past creditors who have been 17 paid in full and owed no money?

18 2. Plaintiff’s credit reports state Plaintiff filed an active Chapter 13 reorganization.
 19 Plaintiff cannot possibly prove that a “paid in full” account is more harmful to his credit than an
 20 active bankruptcy. Nor, can he prove that a $0.00 balance account would sway an adverse credit
 21 decision more than an active bankruptcy. Finally, a $0.00 balance account is not even 22 derogatory.
 23
 24

25 Plaintiff cites Wang v. Asset Acceptance LLC. No. C 09-04797 SI, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS
 26 91946, at 15 (N.D. Cal. July 27, 2010) for the premise that it is improper to re-report overdue
 27 payments to CRA’s while also failing to report that Plaintiff disputed the account. However, in 28

1 Wang, the defendant dismissed a state court complaint for statute of limitations issues, but
2 continued to report the account “..in a manner that suggests it [defendant] could still collect on
3 it.” Thus, unlike the current case, the reporting in Wang was truly incorrect and inaccurate.

4 Wang, on the other hand, only strengthens TBSC’s defense by ruling:

5 Section 1681s-2(b) imposes additional duties on furnishers of information that are
6 triggered only when the furnisher receives notice from a CRA that a consumer
7 disputes the information. Id. § 1681s-2(b). The FCRA creates a private right of action
8 for violations of these additional duties. [Wang. P. 1146].

9 Based upon the Wang decision, Plaintiff’s first cause of action for violation of Section
10 1681s-2(b) must fail because the additional duties imposed by 1681s-2(b) can only be triggered
11 when the furnisher receives notice from a CRA –something that never happened in this case.

12 Conclusion

13 Based upon the foregoing, the motion of TBSC to dismiss the complaint, or in the 14 alternative to grant summary judgment should be granted with prejudice and without leave to 15 amend.
